Hey CyberPals!

Wow... has it REALLY been over a year since I put out a newsletter?

So much has changed since last we all spoke... I left the Poconos and have been living in Lancaster, PA since the Summer.

Did you know there are actually Amish street gangs?

Sure, their gang colors can only be limited to black or white, and it's really hard to conceal a musket on the streets. On the plus side you have plenty of time to run for cover when you hear the "CLOP, CLOP, CLOP" of the buggy coming down the road for a Drive-By Shunning.

This place is tougher than I thought.

WE GOT ARCHIVES!
I've been going a lot of reading about website marketing, and a lot of them recommend (regardless of your business) putting out a regular E-Zine (newsletter) to keep the visitors coming back (you're reading this, aren't you?). They also feel it's a good idea to keep archives so your subscribers can see what they missed...

So I whipped up a handy way to pull up past newsletters up from the database and process them into PDF forms on the fly (a good idea if you have a business, drop me a line and I'll show you how.)
